

Talking with the Dead (Kat Parker #2) Having recently come to terms with her psychic gift of communicating with the comatose, all Kat Parker wanted was a bit of relaxation and to replace her broken cell phone. But her uncle's death reveals a new and potentially dangerous wrinkle to her abilities – she can see and talk with the dead. Phoneless, fed up, and worried for her sanity, Kat is still determined to help her uncle. Discovering he had more than a few secrets, she embarks on a treasure hunt for the one object she believes will help him rest in peace. Standing in her way is the CIA, a Mexican drug cartel kill squad, a group of mask-wearing gang members, and a wild alligator determined to eat her pet turtle. As things spiral out of control, the absurdity of it all has Kat wondering if she has already gone insane, if she will be forever saddled with babysitting her uncle's spirit, and if she should even bother to replace her phone. ...more
